Headline:

Mostly cloudy with rain on Thursday but turning dry overnight.

Today:

A fine and dry start for many, but low cloud and patchy light rain soon moving across the region from the north through the morning. Rain will be persistent across windward hills and coasts with some fog over the moors. Maximum temperature 21 deg C (70 deg F).

Tonight:

Any lingering cloud and rain will clear during the evening to leave dry night with clear spells. A little low cloud forming over the moors overnight. Minimum temperature 6 deg C (43 deg F).

Friday:

A bright and sunny start to the day for many, but low cloud with patchy drizzle moves across the region from the west. Likely staying mostly dry in the east. Maximum temperature 21 deg C (70 deg F).

Outlook for Saturday to Monday:

Often cloudy with scattered showers and sunny spells during the weekend. Outbreaks of rain, heavy at times, cross the region at Sunday night and continuing into Monday. Feeling warm.
